

#EISAPEC22

15TH PAN-EUROPEAN
CONFERENCE ON
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

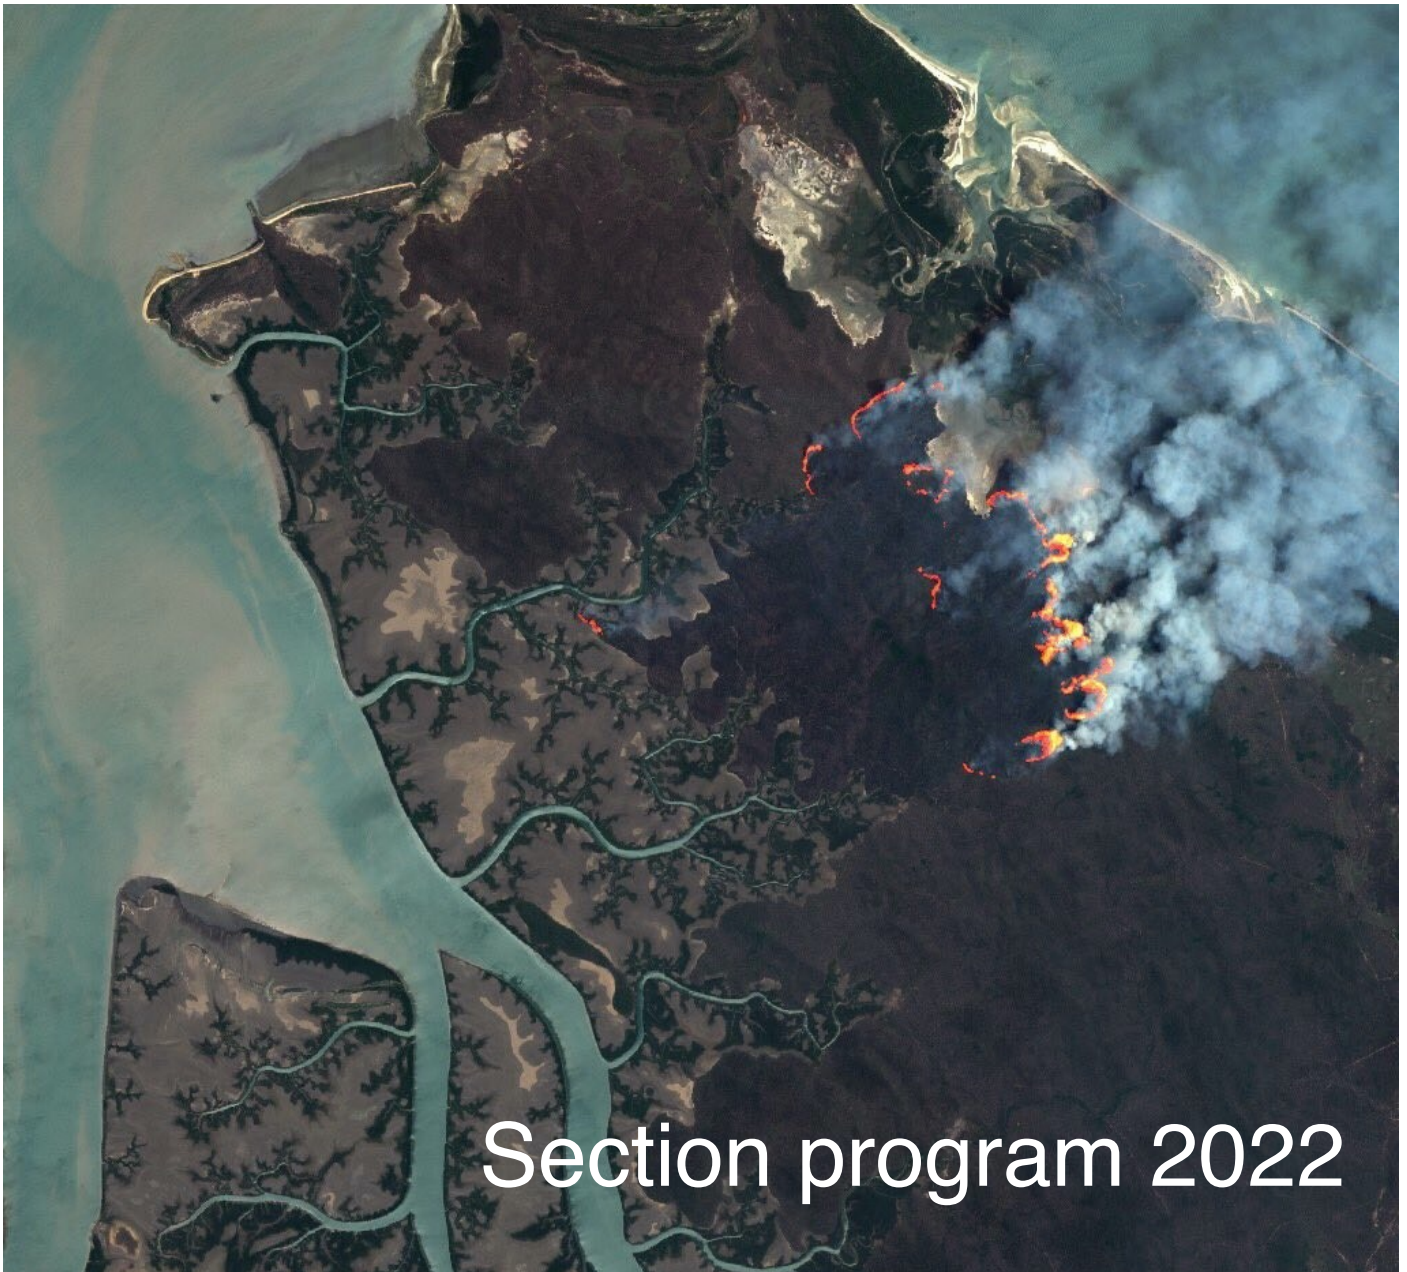

PANDAEMONIUM:
INTERROGATING THE
APOCALYPTIC IMAGINARIES
OF OUR TIME

1-4 SEPTEMBER 2022

PANTEION UNIVERSITY, ATHENS

Standing Section 09 International Relations in the Anthropocene

Section program 2022

#EISAPEC22

15TH PAN-EUROPEAN
CONFERENCE ON
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

PANDAEMONIUM:
INTERROGATING THE
APOCALYPTIC IMAGINARIES
OF OUR TIME

1-4 SEPTEMBER 2022

PANTEION UNIVERSITY, ATHENS

Friday, September 2, 2022

09:00 - 10:45, B5

Panel: From the global to the planetary: Political orders, power and agency the Anthropocene

Chair: Gitte Du Plessis, Tampere University
Discussant: Christine Hentschel, University of Hamburg

Which narratives help us to encounter and challenge the anthropocene within the cosmopolitical pluriverse?

Friederike Teller, University of Applied Arts Vienna

"The only thing in the world that's worth beginning: the end of the world": Critique and disavowal in the Anthropocene

David Chandler, University of Westminster

Black planetary geographies: race, space and ontology in the Anthropocene

Farai Chipato, University of Glasgow

Peace and Power in an Entangled World

Maximilian Lakitsch, University of Graz

Weaponizing community conservancies in northern Kenya

Sara van Der Hoeven, University of Gothenburg

16:45 - 18:30, B1

Panel: State repertoires and power politics of the Anthropocene I: Conceptual development and comparative analysis

Chair: Paul Beaumont, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs, NUPI, Oslo

Discussant: Matias Spektor, Fundação Getulio Vargas, Sao Paulo

Whose Security? States, Climate Change and Security

Matt McDonald, University of Queensland, Brisbane

Ecosystem governance across the nature/human divide

Elena Wilson Rowe, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs, NUPI, Oslo

Assessing the relationship between ecosystemic cooperation and ecosystem services

Cristiana Maglia, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs, NUPI, Oslo

(Re-)Conceptualising security in the Anthropocene?

Emma Hakala University of Helsinki

Anthropocene-AI-realism triangle at the expense of planetary costs

Eda Ayaydin, University of Paris-Saclay

M. Can, University of Minho- Portugal

#EISAPEC22

15TH PAN-EUROPEAN
CONFERENCE ON
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

PANDAEMONIUM:
INTERROGATING THE
APOCALYPTIC IMAGINARIES
OF OUR TIME

1-4 SEPTEMBER 2022

PANTEION UNIVERSITY, ATHENS

Saturday, September 3, 2022

11:15 - 13:00, B5

Panel: Doing good in a world of entanglement: Ethics and governance in the Anthropocene

Chair: Delf Rothe, IFSH

Discussant: Katharina Glaab, Norwegian University of Life Sciences

"Getting things done": the rise of cities and the search for political agency in the global age

Tatiana Pignon, University of Cambridge

Ingraining reality in International Law: a climate-changing tempo

Guilherme Pratti, Sant'Anna School of Advanced Studies, Pisa

Creating a more inclusive and sustainable future: Diplomacy, empathy, and the Anthropocene

Claire Yorke, University of Southern Denmark

Doing good in the digital era: Towards a multi-sited critique of digital humanitarianism

Daniel M. Ølgaard, Lund University

Martial Epistemology

Erik Reichborn-Kjennerud, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs, Oslo

14:30 - 16:15, B5

Panel: State repertoires and power politics of the Anthropocene II: analytical tools and case studies

Chair: Elena Wilson Rowe, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs, NUPI, Oslo

Discussant: Matt McDonald, University of Queensland, Brisbane

The Amazon Cooperation Treaty and the Bargained Stewardship of the Amazon Ecosystem in Global Environmental Governance

Lucas De Oliveira Paes, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs, NUPI, Oslo

Ecosystem Cooperation and Hierarchy Formation: Scaling the Caspian

Paul Beaumont, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs, NUPI, Oslo

Climate Change and Security in France

Sofia Kabbej, University of Queensland, Brisbane

Defiance Against Foreign Shaming during Climate Crises

G.N. Fasolin, M. Spektor and J. Camargo, Fundação Getulio Vargas, Sao Paulo

The environmental card? Norm contestation and political repertoires in the Caspian Sea

Kristin Fjæstad, Norwegian Institute of International Affairs, NUPI, Oslo

#EISAPEC22

15TH PAN-EUROPEAN
CONFERENCE ON
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

PANDAEMONIUM:
INTERROGATING THE
APOCALYPTIC IMAGINARIES
OF OUR TIME

1-4 SEPTEMBER 2022

PANTEION UNIVERSITY, ATHENS

Sunday, September 4, 2022

10:15 - 12:00, Γ1

Panel: Geopolitics and security in a posthuman world: New agencies, new technologies, new ways of knowing

Chair: Tbc.

Discussant: David Chandler, University of Westminster

Arctic watery relations in the Anthropocene
Monica Tennberg, University of Lapland

Phenomenal chimeras: towards a posthumanist conception of war experience
Italo Brandimarte, University of Cambridge

Violent atmospheres: interrogating the knowledge-climate-security nexus
Delf Rothe, IFSH Hamburg

Geoengineering, Climate Change and Ecological Security
Matt McDonald, University of Queensland, Brisbane

13:00 - 14:45, B1

Panel: New struggles, different forms of agency? Claims for Justice in the Anthropocene

Chair: Alexandra Tost, Institute for Advanced Sustainability Studies, Potsdam

Discussant: Benno Fladvad, University of Hamburg

Geopolitics in the Anthropocene: The U.S. National Security Global Strategic Objectives in The Amazon Basin
Bernardo Jurema, Institute for Advanced Sustainability Studies, Potsdam

Striking for Another World Order? The Global Climate Strike as a Worldmaking Project
Elias König, Peking University, Yenching Academy

Translating the Anthropocene: Indigenous Activists and Human Rights in Infrastructural projects
Alejandro Esguerra, University of Bielefeld

Youth going to court: climate litigation as political struggle in the Anthropocene
Henrike Knappe and Niklas Scheffer, Institute for Advanced Sustainability Studies, Potsdam

Brazilian Amazon and new scientific struggles: the dispute for the new truth of the forest
Cecilia Oliveira, Institute for Advanced Sustainability Studies, Potsdam